We offer courses on entrepreneurship in Czech. In the summer semester 2025 we are not opening any courses in English.

Management of Science and InnovationThe one-semester course focuses on innovation and the topic of applying research results in practice.

Learn how to actively look for applications for the results of your research or studies. The course will introduce how to better anticipate future social trends and how to think innovatively. You will also gain insight into the process of social science and technology transfer (transfer of science into practice), including the protection of intellectual property.

Start a projectA practical project seminar in the form of a ten-week challenge to move your own idea to realisation.

Experience the process of creating a new service or product from idea to implementation. And maybe even bring the project to life. The course, which is open to all students across all disciplines and faculties of Charles University, also offers the possibility to work on your own podcast

Podnikni to! - Business courseA successful business course, which has already been attended by more than 6,000 students.

Are you hesitating whether or not to do business? A course of eight practical workshops focused on basic entrepreneurial knowledge and skills will show you how to transform your idea step by step into a real business with the potential for success.

Living laboratory of collaborationA practical project course where you will experience collaboration on a real socially relevant event.

Experience very intensive collaboration on your own skin and at the same time gain theoretical basics of self-management, teamwork and cooperation in the organization, which you will be able to use immediately in practice when preparing an event at the Hybernská Campus.
